February 2022 Ukraine

- March 8th, International Women's Day

Ukraine/Romania border crossing point.

For 20 days, food, clothing, and hygiene supplies were distributed to war victims and displaced people in the region.

- looking with hopeful eyes

What have we done?

A bitter life, far from their homeland and warm homes.

Evacuation

We provided support with our vehicles in the evacuation of women and children, victims of war, who crossed from Ukraine to Romania via the Siret border crossing, to the nearest settlements and transportation areas, in cooperation with local authorities and in compliance with the law.

Humanitarian Aid

In the region where temperatures reached -10 degrees Celsius, in order to meet the immediate basic needs of the victims who had been without food and water for days, supplies such as instant soup, ready-made pasta, tea, coffee, and cakes were provided, and coats, hats, socks, scarves, and hygiene materials were distributed to ensure the children's safety.

8 Mart

To bring a smile to the faces of women who, ironically, lost their closest loved ones—perhaps their spouses, fathers, mothers, or even children—during the war, we celebrated International Women's Day on March 8th by giving them flowers under the motto of "Peace at home, peace in the world." Seeing the happiness in their eyes was worth everything.

What have we done?

We carried out firefighting and cooling operations in the area, including rescuing our furry friends who were particularly exposed to smoke and extreme heat.

Staff Support

We provided logistical support in deployment and management when needed by leaving volunteer personnel on standby at the coordination center in the region.

Cooling

Cooling operations after the fire.

Extinguishing

After the flames were brought under control, a field survey was conducted in the affected areas to extinguish the fires that could cause large fires again, and firefighting efforts were carried out in the identified locations.

February 2023 The Disaster of the Century

Everything was going to be very different on February 6th.

In the earthquake centered in Kahramanmaraş, described as the Disaster of the Century, which caused widespread destruction and loss of life in 11 provinces and claimed the lives of thousands of our people, search and rescue, recovery efforts, and psychosocial support missions were carried out in the region for nearly 90 days.

- Concerns are increasing.

- Moments filled with hope

What have we done?

We arrived in the region on the evening of the first day after the earthquake, and began operations with nearly 200 search and rescue team members.

Search and Rescue

In Adiyaman province, our first area of operation, we established our coordination center within Mimar Sinan Park and immediately began search and rescue operations along with a field survey.

First aid

We provided support in administering first aid to our injured citizens who either managed to escape on their own or were rescued after intervention.

Hope

As the efforts continued day and night, and hope was dwindling day by day, a warm hand reaching out to us helped us regain hope.

What have we done?

Our search and rescue and psychosocial support efforts continued for the first 20 days.

Search and Rescue

We would like to thank our support partners from Spain, Uresap Espana and Gea Alicente search and rescue teams, for their dedicated efforts in helping us heal our wounds.

Two emotions at once

While rescue efforts continued, what saddened us most were, of course, the children. Their rescue gave us hope and brought smiles to our faces, but the fact that their parents had passed away was one of those moments where words failed us.

Psychosocial support

Especially for children experiencing sadness and fear, we tried to be a source of hope for them day and night, and our psychosocial support team was constantly by their side, trying to help them forget the tragedy they were going through, even if only for a little while.

What have we done?

While search and rescue operations continued, another team we formed continued with recovery and humanitarian aid efforts.

Humanitarian Aid

We distributed aid supplies, food and hygiene packages sent from neighboring regions and from our supporters across the country to the local population.

Improvement

The supply of medicines and hygiene materials, in particular, was of great importance to the local population.

Needs Assessment

We went from tent to tent, carefully noting the needs of our citizens affected by the earthquake, and after procuring them, we distributed them.

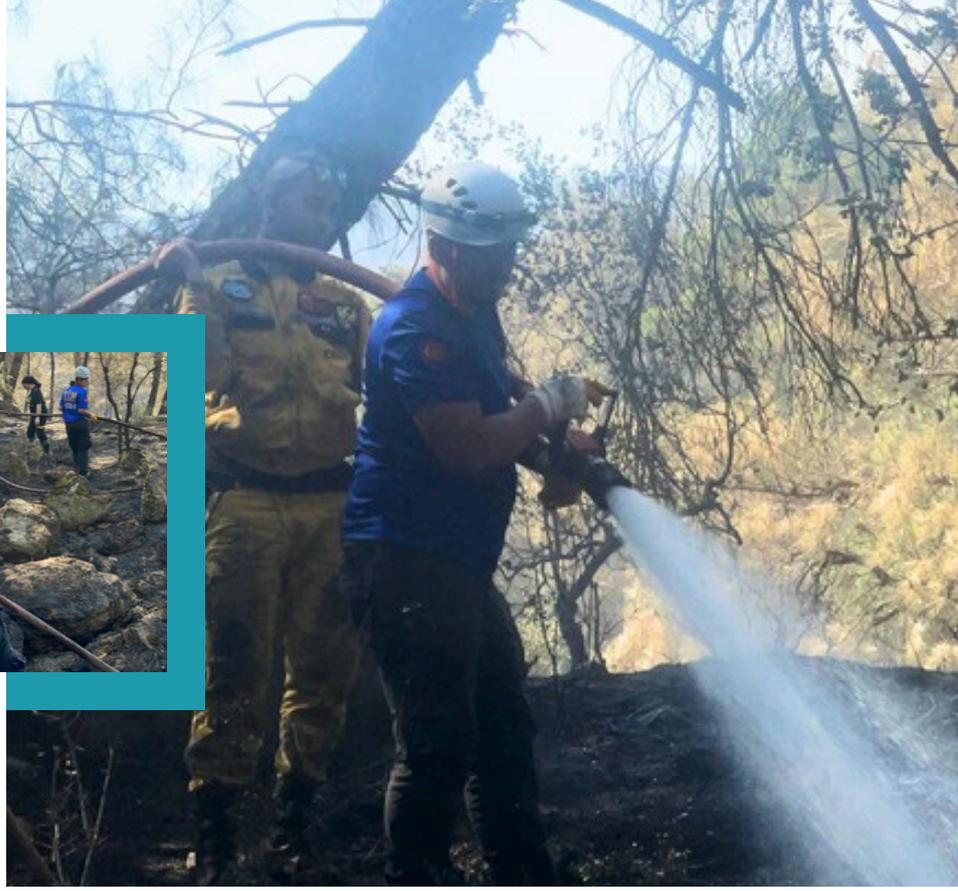

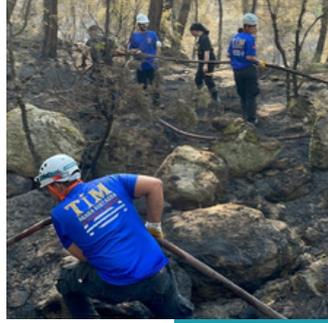

What have we done?

We continued our duties, which began on February 6th, until May, including the month of Ramadan.

More than the experience we gained during our nearly 90-day assignment in Adıyaman and Kahramanmaraş provinces, we had the opportunity to interact with perhaps hundreds of people in the region, sharing their pain, sorrow, hopes, joys, and longings.

May God never let us experience such pain again. We once again pray for God's mercy upon our earthquake martyrs.

Palestine

A real drama that happened.

The Middle East has been unable to escape this chaos since the dawn of human history, and who is who or what they are involved with doesn't directly concern us; what matters, and what pains us most, is the brutal slaughter of innocent people... Therefore, wherever in the world they may be, we will stand by the oppressed to the best of our ability. Following this principle, we have provided and sent food and hygiene supplies to the suffering people of Gaza under the coordination of AFAD (Disaster and Emergency Management Presidency of Turkey).
